Comes in the Eighth Inning, in Which the Detroits Get Three Runs.

The New Yorks were backward with the Stick again yesterday and dropped another came to the Detroits. The Athletics had hard time beating the Naps and didn't do it until the thirteenth inning. The Red Sox made one run and shut out the Browns, and the Washingtons took the Browns to day, and the Browns to day sort of a game from the White Sox. The Washingtons passed the Browns and tied the New Yorks for third place. Yesterday's Results.

What little scoring there was at the Polo Grounds yesterday was attended with happenings of a less conventional nature than usually is the case. The scoring of the New Yorks was the lesser of the two and the Detroits beat them again. numerous occasions. The score was 3 to 1, no runs eventuating whatever until six innings had been played. There came a slight fissure in the Detroit defence in the seventh and the New Yorks herded home a run. Keat-ing had been doing so valiantly as a hunter of tigers that the run appeared synonymous with victory, but the De-troits, a hard fighting team, forced Keat-ing into a collapse in the eighth and made three. "There goes your old ball game," quoth Jimmy Burke on the coaching line, the truth of which words the way the game turned out none could gainsay.

The travelling pro and con to the plate was somewhat out of the beaten paths. The New York run was made by a slow base runner stealing second unexpectedly, serving as a buffer between a thrown ball and a baseman and scrambling home while the ball, deflected by his knee, rolled to the outfield. The circumstances accompanying the Detroits' runs included a two bagger, a slide to first to beat a infield been playing back.

A decision by Sheridan giving Cobb safe at first on a bunt in the eighth inning made a vast difference in the outcome, probably a difference of three runs. All decisions by umpires make a difference, but this one looked wrong all over.

Sweeney fielded the bunt to first, Cobb said and before his feet had touched the bag the ball thudded into Williams's hands. Keating took a flyer into space then and there, to be relieved shortly by Caldwell, who by the way is not charged with the defeat.

However, whether Sheridan was wrong right—if the latter, appearances were lightly ligh or right—if the latter, appearances were most deceptive—there can be no two ways of thinking about the sterling quality of Jean Dubuc's pitching. PITTSBURG, May 14.—The Giants defeated the Pirates to-day by a score of 4 to 3 in the first meeting of the clubs this year. Adams pitched for Pittsburg and Demaree for New York and both were seemingly at their best. Adams was more successful in preventing the batters from getting hits, but Demaree never faitered at any stage and was particularly strong when men were on bases, which was the case in every linning but one, the single, followed by Shanks's triple in the tenth, scored the only tally. For nine innings not a hit was obtained off Jim Scott, the White Sox pitcher. Ayers also twirled good ball and gave only three hits. His fine support saved him on numerous occasions. The score: was the case in every inning but one, the

Capt. Doyle is suffering with tonsillitis and Eddie Grant took his place at second base. Doyle's absence no doubt widened the scope of Fletcher's activity, as Grant had precious little to do, tripping up on one of three chances he got. Outside of Fletcher's work a stumping catch Heave Past Lajole in Thirteenth of a foul fly by Burns in the fifth inning was the only fielding feature.

Fletcher dumped the ball and was thrown out by Adams, the sacrifice advancing Bescher to third and Burns to second. Grant also dumped the ball to Adams, who threw home to catch Bescher, but Gibson dropped the throw and Bescher the meantime Burns had reached third base and Grant second. While Merkle was at bat Adams made a wild pitch, and both Burns and Grant crossed the plate. Merkle then struck out and Snodgrass retired the side, being thrown out by McCarthy. The Pirates scored their first run in the third inning. Gibson, the first batter, hit along the right field foul line for three bases. Snodgrass threw the ball to Grant, who relayed it to Stock, but it shot past the new third baseman, and it is as important to have a tennis racket that suits you as it is to have a golf club that fits you.

Very few players know anyracket The balance of a racket depends on the way it "comes up." It requires a good deal of experience to decide this. One who is not a tennis player absolutely cannot decide it. It is hard enough for an experienced player to decide for another about the balance of a racket, but you may as America, without extra cost Come and see us.

THANK YOU!

; As I walked around the Men's Store and the Sports Shop," said a visitor the the tennis rackets, caddie bags, oil-coat slickers, golf raiment and general paraphernalia I could easily imagine that I was in Great Britain counting my shillings as I enviously inspected the wares. This is but a sincere appreciation of a most remarkable sports collection.
